QUARTERLY HIGHLIGHTS

The Matrix Advisors Value Fund had a good start to the year, ahead of the Russell 1000® Value Index and the S&P 500's return. The Fund was up +7.95% in the quarter, versus the S&P 500's gain of +7.50% and the Russell 1000® Value Index's gain of +0.99%.

Many of 2022's weakest sectors and stocks rebounded strongly and led the Fund's portfolio higher in the 1st quarter of 2023. The largest sector weights in the Fund on March 31st were Technology, Financials, Health Care, and Communication Services. We believe the Fund's investments in these sectors have strong appreciation potential from current levels.

During the quarter, the Fund bought a new position in PNC Financial, swapping out from Truist Financial. Both companies are strong, well-managed regional banks, but in the recent sell-off of regional bank stocks, we believed this was a quality upgrade with similar upside potential. The Fund sold its position in Schlumberger when it reached its target sale price.

Overall, the Fund's portfolio has an average estimated upside above its historic average*. Its P/E ratio of 14.3 times estimated 2023 earnings is at a 14% discount to the S&P 500's P/E. We believe the Fund's portfolio is positioned to show further healthy gains when the market rally expands beyond the mega-cap Technology stocks.
